3. No person may benefit from expenses which are alien to the purpose of the association or from disproportionately high remuneration.

§ 4 Membership, rights and duties

1. Natural or legal persons, commercial companies, authorities and foundations may become members of the association. The prerequisite for membership is that the member's activities are in accordance with the association's tasks and objectives.
2. All members have the rights and obligations laid down in these Statutes. They are obliged to observe the provisions of the Statutes and the resolutions of the General Assembly of Members and to support the association in achieving its objectives.
3. Members are obliged to pay the fixed (annual) membership fees on time. Founding members are exempt from ongoing membership fees; they pay only founding membership fees. The amount of the ongoing membership fees and the founding membership fees shall be determined by Rules of Contribution, which shall be set by the General Assembly with a 2/3 majority of the members present.
4. All members have the right to vote and to submit proposals to the executive bodies of the association. The exercise of the right to vote shall be suspended as long as the member is in arrears with the payment of the membership fee.
5. Members shall authorize natural persons, in particular employees, in writing to exercise their membership rights and membership obligations; these persons must belong to an appropriate hierarchical level within the member's organization.
6. Members have the right to be informed about the work carried out by the association. This does not include the disclosure of business secrets of third parties. Members are obliged to use confidential documents and information made available to them only for their own use, and to not divulge them to third parties. Disclosure to and use by the member's affiliated companies within the meaning of §§ 15 ff. AktG (German Stock Corporation Act) is permissible, provided that these affiliated companies ensure appropriate confidentiality.

§ 5 Commencement and termination of membership

1. The Administrative board decides on the written application for membership with a majority of 2/3 on the occasion of meetings of the Administrative Board or by circulation. Text form shall suffice to comply with the written form. Submitting an application implies that a prospective member accepts the Statutes and the Rules of Contribution and Rules of Procedure issued on their basis.
2. An appeal against a negative decision may be lodged, within one month from receipt of the written rejection, to the next ordinary general meeting; this meeting shall make the final decision.
3. Members are entitled to ordinary resignation with a notice period of six months to the end of the fiscal year. Notice of resignation shall be given in writing to the Chairman of the Administrative board.
4. The Administrative board can exclude members with a majority of 2/3 for important cause, if the behavior of the member grossly violates the Statutes or the interests of the association. Before a decision is made to exclude a member, the member must be given the opportunity to make a statement within a reasonable period of time; the member may use the services of an advisor who need not be a member of the association.
5. The member shall have the right of appeal to the General Meeting against the exclusion decision of the Administrative Board. The appeal has a suspensive effect. The appeal must be lodged in writing with the Chairman of the Administrative board within one month of receipt of the exclusion decision. If the appeal is filed in time, the Administrative Board shall convene the General Meeting within two months to decide on the appeal. If this does not happen, the exclusion resolution shall be deemed to have not been issued. If the member does not exercise the right of appeal against the exclusion resolution or if the member misses the deadline for appeal, the member thereby submits to the exclusion resolution with the consequence that the membership is deemed to be terminated.
6. All rights of the member expire with the termination of the membership. Membership shall be terminated by the dissolution of the member as a legal entity or its deletion from the Commercial Register, as well as by the resignation or exclusion of the member for good cause.

§ 6 Assets

The letter of invitation shall be deemed to have been received by the member if it is addressed to the last address made known to the Association by the member.
2. Any member of the Executive Board may call an extraordinary general meeting at any time. The chairman of the Executive Board is obliged to do so if the interest of the association requires it or if the convening is requested in writing by one third of the members, stating the purpose and the reasons to the chairman of the Executive Board. The members are to be invited in text form with announcement of the agenda at least one week before the day of the extraordinary meeting of the members.

Attendance can also be provided by digital media, video conference systems, or similar.
7. Resolutions on amendments to the Statutes and on the dissolution of the association shall require a majority of 3/4 of the members present, unless otherwise provided by the Statutes. Insofar as they may affect the tax concession of the association, they must first be submitted to the responsible tax authority for a statement.
8. All other resolutions shall be passed by a simple majority of the members present or represented in accordance with § 8 number 5 sentence 2. In the event of a tie, a motion shall be deemed rejected. Abstentions shall be considered invalid votes for all resolutions. 9. Any member may request in writing to the chairman of the board, no later than one week before the date of the general meeting, that additional matters be subsequently added to the agenda. The Chairman of the Executive Board shall announce the additions to the agenda to the members in writing or text form prior to the General Meeting. A matter that is not on the agenda cannot
